REMARKABLE LAKE.

A Body of Water With a Roof of Solidified Salt.

A lake with a salt roof isn't frozen salt, and it isn't underground. On the contrary, this remarkable lake may be seen at any time during the year, fully exposed, being even at its best when the sun is shining directly upon it. This wonderful body of water is one of the saltest of the salt lakes and is situated near Obdorsk, Siberia. The lake is nine miles wide and seventeen long and within the memory of man was not entirely roofed over by the salt deposit. Originally evaporation played the most prominent part in coating the lake over with salt, but at the present time the salt springs which surround it are adding fast to the thickness of the crust.

In the long ago rapid evaporation of the lake's waters left great salt crystals floating on the surface. In course of time these caked together. Thus the waters were finally entirely covered. In 1878 the lake found an underground outlet into the river Obi, which lowered its surface about three feet. The salt crust was so thick, however, that it retained its old level and now presents the curious spectacle of a salt roofed lake. The salt coat increases six inches in thickness every year. The many islands with which the lake is studded are said to act as braces and to help keep the arched salt crust in position.

Unique Hotel Rules.

Following are the rules and regulations posted in a certain hotel in Illinois:

Board, 50 cents per square foot; meals extra; breakfast at 6, supper at 7.

Guests are requested not to speak to the dumb waiter; guests wishing to get up without being called can have self rising flour for lunch.

The office is convenient to all connections; horses to hire, 25 cents a day.

Guests wishing to do a little driving will find hammer and nails in the closet.

If the room gets too warm, open the window and see the fire escape.

If you are fond of athletics and like good jumping, lift the mattress and see the bed spring.

If the lights go out, take a soda—that is light enough for any man.

Any one troubled with nightmare will find a halter in the barn.

Don't worry about paying your bill; the house is supported by its foundation.—Detroit Free Press.

Modifying It.

Mrs. C. was horrified to discover that her little seven-year-old daughter was acquiring the habit of alluding very freely to the devil, and at last she told her determinedly that a repetition of the obnoxious word would bring severe punishment.

The child knew that her mother was in earnest, so she set a seal on her lips. At last she seemed to have forgotten it, but one Sunday Mrs. C., who had been too ill to go to church, asked her if she could tell what the minister had preached about in his sermon.

"Oh, yes'm," she answered. "He preached about our Lord going up into the mountain and being tempted by—by—by the gentleman who keeps hell!"

She didn't intend to run any risks of being punished.—Francis E. Wadleigh in Lippincott's.

They Never Imbibe.

The Ona Indian is deserving of a higher place than he has hitherto occupied in men's esteem if but for one trait. He forms the almost solitary exception among aboriginal tribes in refusing to touch alcohol in any form. This policy of total abstinence is rigidly adhered to in the face of cold, hunger and illness and even during the excitement of ceremonial rites. Whatever his faults may be, judged from the white man's standard, the Ona of South America has at least the saving virtue of manliness. His ideal is one of bodily prowess, hardihood and endurance.—Scottish American.

Their Fate.

The late Dr. Talmage once called on his lawyer and found two of his parishioners there on legal business of a private nature.

"Ah, doctor," called the lawyer in greeting, "good morning! Here are two of your flock. May I ask without impertinence if you regard them as black sheep or white?"

"I don't know as yet," replied Talmage dryly, "whether they're black or white, but I'm certain that if they remain here long they'll be fleeced."

Very Sad.

"Yes, it's very sad."

"How is that."

"Why, he always held that to train a wife properly you should catch her while she's young. So he did."

"Well?"

"Well, it seems that she had the same idea about a husband, and now there's a crisscross of training ideas that is simply home wrecking."—Chicago Post.

Why He Objected.

"But, papa," pleaded the millionaire's daughter in behalf of the poor young man she wished to marry, "surely it is no disgrace to work for a living?"

"N-no, my dear—no. What I object to is being the one who is worked for it."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S WIFE.

She Is Really Her Husband's Business Partner and Acts It.

"In England," says Ainslee's Magazine, "a man's wife is in reality his partner, and whether or not the two are in harmony with each other in affection in all material things they recognize that their fortunes are irrevocably bound together, that the interests of both are quite identical and that each has just as strong a motive for making things go well as has the other, since they share equally the labor and the reward therefrom. They may have their private disagreements, but they front the world together. The wife takes the keenest interest in the most minute details of everything that affects her husband's welfare. She knows his income to a penny. She manages her household as a chancellor of the exchequer manages the nation's outlay, so that the annual budget shall not only avoid a deficit and shall accurately balance, but so that it shall show a surplus. She will practice a rigid economy if necessary, and in doing so she will feel that she is merely carrying out her share of the marriage contract. It is the man's part to make money; it is her part to help him save it. She plans nothing for herself apart from him. She cannot think of him as in anything apart from her. If he is in political life, she enters into his ambitions with intelligence and zeal. She will write his letters for him and entertain his constituents. She will study the bluebooks and teach herself to understand the public questions with which he has to deal, so that she may discuss them with him and follow his career intelligently. She belongs to him, in fact, as he belongs to her. There is not much display of sentiment in an English household after the first year of married life has ended, but there is the bond of a common interest which grows stronger every day and every year and which gives to man and wife a unity of purpose and of feeling that will beyond comparison outlast the cobweb tissues of emotionalism."

He Was a Butcher.

"Now, I rather pride myself on my ability to read character," said the man who was given to buying detective tales, "and yet why should I? It is really a very simple thing; requires nothing but close observation. For instance, it is easy to tell a man's occupation. His facial expression, his actions, even his dress, are stamped by his daily work. You see that man sitting opposite us? Well, I am just as sure as though he had told me that he is a barber."

"You are mistaken," replied his friend. "That man is a butcher."

"Impossible!" exclaimed the amateur detective. "You never saw a butcher with slim white hands, like his."

"Perhaps not," admitted the other, "but he is a butcher just the same."

"How do you know he is?"

"How do I know? Why, the scoundrel shaved me once."—Household Guest.

Burial Alive.

Though it is possible that cases of burial of living persons may still occur, fortunately they are more rare than in former times. Even the doctor's orders against interment were not always obeyed, for the Gentleman's Magazine of 1751 relates the case of Richard Carson of Hay, Herefordshire, England, who was supposed to have died, but a doctor declared that Carson still lived and ordered that he was not to be buried. His relatives paid no heed to the injunction, and the body was committed to the grave next day. A person passing through the churchyard heard a noise and prevailed on the clerk to open the grave, where the supposed corpse was found in a profuse sweat and bleeding at the nose. Unfortunately the man was beyond recovery and soon died.

The Llama.

In Bolivia, one of the highest inhabitated countries on the globe—La Paz, the capital, being 12,000 feet above the sea level—much use is made of that graceful and invaluable pack animal, the llama, which will travel farther and with even less food than the burro, but will not carry more than 150 pounds. The llama in some respects resembles the camel, kneeling in camel fashion to receive its load, and it will not rise if more than 150 pounds are placed on its back; moreover, the weight must be evenly distributed over its back and sides.

Grapes.

"Grapes dissolve and dislodge gravel and calculi," says the doctor. They bring the stomach and bowels to a healthy condition. Even the consumptive finds new life in them and should take grape juice by the tumblerful daily, as it makes new, rich blood. It builds up the tissues and feeds starved nerves. It is also cleansing.

Lightning Rapidity.

It is absolutely impossible for us to conceive of the rapidity and brilliancy of lightning. It has been estimated that a flash occupies less than one-millionth part of a second. As one-tenth of a second is needed for the full effect of any light upon the eye, we get only a very faint idea of the brilliancy of the flash.

Cause For the Condition.

"You don't shine so brilliantly as of yore," remarked the oil.

"No," said the wick; "I have been turned down by Miss Maude because that young simpleton is coming."—Town and Country.

CHOATE'S ADVICE.

It Led a Choleric Client Into the Paths of Peace.

It seems always to have lain within the power of the distinguished lawyer and humorist, Rufus Choate, to lead a choleric client from ways of anger into the paths of peace. Just before the war a southern gentleman was dining with a friend in one of the best hotels of Boston. He was of French creole extraction, and his name was Delacour, says a writer in Lippincott's Magazine. The waiter was a colored man, and the southerner gave his orders in a very domineering fashion, finding fault freely with what was put before him and the way in which it was served. Finally the waiter became incensed and told Mr. Delacour to go to a place warm and remote. The latter sprang furiously to his feet and would have shot the offender dead if he had not been restrained by his wiser friend, who said:

"You can't do that sort of thing here. You will have to remember where you are."

"Do you suppose that I am going to put up with such insolence and not be revenged?" said the enraged man.

"Certainly not. But do it by process of law."

The landlord was first interviewed and the waiter discharged. That was not sufficient to satisfy the wounded feelings of Mr. Delacour. He asked who was the best lawyer in the city and was told it was Rufus Choate. Making his way to his office, he said:

"Mr. Choate, I want to engage you in a case. What will your retaining fee be?"

"About $50."

The check was made out and handed over.

"Now," said the lawyer, "what are the facts of the case?"

He was told. Said Mr. Choate thoughtfully:

"I know the United States law on the subject well, and I know the law of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and I can assure you, sir, that there is no power on earth strong enough to force you to go to that place if you don't want to go. And if I were you I wouldn't."

"Well," said the southerner, accepting the situation, "I think I'll take your advice." And they parted good friends.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Supply plenty of gravel to fowls that are being fattened in confinement.

Chickens should never be allowed to go on the roosts until ten or twelve weeks old.

Lime is a purifier and should be used as a wash on the coops, perches and nest boxes.

If a hen lays soft shelled eggs, give her plenty of gravel, oyster shells and crushed bone.

Ducks should be allowed as much liberty as possible. They are not partial to confinement.

Flat eggs, eggs within eggs, double yolked eggs and other unnatural formations are due to the hens being overfat.

Geese may be fattened on any kind of grain if fed all that they will eat for about ten days before sending them to market. Corn, peas and barley are best.

Young chicks of fancy breeding should not be permitted to roost on perches until after they are eight months old, as it often causes crooked breast bones.

Accumulating filth is a prolific source of disease, especially gapes. After the poultry yard is cleaned up sprinkle it well with diluted carbolic acid and a little copperas.

Adding Insult to Injury.

She had just handed him the frosty mitt, but he was game to the last hurdle.

"If you are ever in trouble," he said, "do not hesitate to lift up your voice, and you will find me 'Johnny on the spot.'"

"I'm in trouble now," answered the human refrigerator, with a sigh long drawn out.

"And, behold," exclaimed the unsuspecting youth, "I am here."

"Yes," she said, "that's the trouble."—Chicago News.

No, Not You.

"Mamma, what was that fuzzy bundle you took out of papa's vest pocket and threw in the fireplace just now?"

"That was an accumulation of household recipes your father cut out of the papers downtown and put away for my benefit. I have to clean them out of his pocket about once a month."—Chicago Tribune.

A Faulty Appraisement.

Mr. Spriggins prides himself on understanding the value of money."

"And that's where Mr. Spriggins makes a mistake," said the liberal man. "He expects a dollar to buy two or three times as much as it has any right to and is continually being annoyed and disappointed."—Washington Star.

Fatal to His Candidacy.

"You have just as much right and theoretically just as good a chance as anybody else to be president," says the patriotic citizen to his neighbor.

"I cannot agree with you," sighs the neighbor. "We have no children, and that fact alone would lose me the photographers' vote."—Judge.

A Corner In Eggs.

"That old hen just seems to be bursting with pride," remarked the farmer's dog.

"Pride? Nothing of the sort. It's eggs," replied the Leghorn rooster. "She thinks she's a financier, and she's trying to stop laying until there's a rise in price."—Exchange.

Bulldog Kinder Than Child.

An incident related by George Eliot proves that kindness and devotion are characteristic of the bulldog breed. The distinguished author was on a visit to the house of a friend where a bulldog and a child, each of the age of six, were among the household possessions. During dessert after dinner, while all were absorbed in conversation, they were startled by a loud howl of pain from the dog, evidently proceeding from under the table. An investigation immediately made discovered that the child, equipped with a pair of scissors, was under the table also and trying to cut the dog's ears with them. From one ear of the bull the blood was running, and yet the dog was making not the slightest effort to escape or defend himself. The host and father, outraged by the evidence of such cruelty on the part of the child, determined on immediate punishment. But when he undertook to carry the punishment into effect the dog interfered, pushing himself between the master and the child and licking the face of the latter.

His Revenge.

M. Colombies, a merchant of Paris, had his revenge on a former sweetheart, a lady of Rouen, when he left her by will a legacy of $6,000 for having some twenty years before refused to marry him, "through which," states the will, "I was enabled to live independently and happily as a bachelor."

Strangers Now.

"You ought to see the lovely letters my husband writes," said the bride of a month to one of her girl friends.

"Oh, I've seen a few," rejoined the dear girl friend. "In fact, I've got nearly a trunkful of them in the attic."—Exchange.

Act! In action there is wisdom and glory and happiness. Action rouses hope, and hope rouses action.—Freedom.

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

A sample will be sent free upon request.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

A BANK STORY.

An Incident That Startled the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street.

Some years ago the directors of the Bank of England were startled to receive an invitation to meet an unknown man in the strongroom of the bank at midnight. "You think you is all safe hand you bank his safe, but I knows better. I bin hinside the bank the last 2 nite hand you nose nuffin about it. But I am nott a theaf so hif yer will mett mee in the great squar room, with all the moneys, at twelf 2 nite, Ile explain orl to you, let only thor 2 cum down, and say nuffin to nobody." The strongroom was guarded the next night in spite of a disposition to regard the letter as a hoax by police and—nothing happened.

The next phase of the mystery was more astonishing than ever. A heavy chest of papers and securities taken from the strongroom arrived at the bank, with a letter complaining that the directors had set the police upon the writer, and that he had therefore not appeared as he promised, but to prove that he was neither a thief nor a fool he sent a chest of papers he had taken from the bank. Let a few gentlemen be alone in the room, and he would join them at midnight, said the writer, and to cut short a long and strange chapter of bank history, a man with a dark lantern burst into the strongroom of the bank at midnight after calling from behind the stone walls for the directors to put out the lights. He was one of a strange class of men who gained a living by searching the sewers at night, and through an opening from a sewer he had found his way into the richest room in the world.—St. James Gazette.

The Strain on Parents.

"What is mohair, mammy?" asked Sally Peterson Jones, looking up from her slow perusal of the newspaper and keeping her place on the page with a dusky forefinger.

Mammy Jones began to rock faster. "You know w'at hair is, I s'pose, don' you?" she inquired.

"Oh, yas'm," responded Sally promptly.

"Well, den, does you know w'at a mo is?" asked her mother rocking still faster.

"No'm," admitted Sally with great reluctance.

"Well, chile, you can't 'spec' me to take de place ob a natchel hist'ry ob animals fo' you," said her mother calmly, allowing the rocking chair to slacken its speed. "W'en you've hunted up de mo in one ob your schoolbooks an' know jes' what he looks like, come to me, an' I'll 'splain de rest. But chillen mus' und'take some work on dere own eddication, shorely. 'Tain't right fo' payrents to do it all."

"Address as Above."

There is one lawyer in Brooklyn who will never again make use of Latin phrases in writing business letters. A short time ago he had to write a letter to a client in a neighboring city regarding an important lawsuit that was to come up before the court in the course of a few days. The information he solicited was highly essential to his case. In writing this epistle he made use of a letter head with his printed address at the top. In closing his letter he signed himself thus, "John Langdon, address ut supra."

After waiting several days for the reply, which did not come, he again wrote his procrastinating client and asked why he had not sooner answered his first letter. The next day he received a reply in which the client said that he had answered the letter and addressed it to "John Langdon, Ut Supra, N. Y."

She Will Keep Her Word.

When Grandmother Pettingill makes up her mind, she is as firm as a rock. Nothing can move her. Perhaps it was on this account that when she returned from the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the settlement of Shrubville and made such a determined declaration nobody attempted to influence her.

"I've been there, and it's over with," she said, "and now I'm home safe after all the noise and bands and scared horses and crying children and men making speeches, I want to tell you one thing. I shan't ever go to another centennial in Shrubville, no matter what the circumstances are and no matter who asks me. You children may as well bear that in mind."

"A MONTANA BLUFF."

How Four Troopers Made Seventy-five Filipinos Flee.

What is regarded as one of the tallest bluffs on record furnished Captain Edgar Russel, chief signal officer in the Philippines during the insurrection, with a story which he told as an example of western nerve.

"We were outside of Manila in some little scrap," said the captain, "and about seventy-five natives were lying in a trench ahead of us, shooting away merrily, but not hitting anybody. By and by I noticed a little disturbance in our front. Presently four Montana troopers trotted out of our lines and started straight for the Filipinos. Everybody looked at them with wonder and waited to see them all killed. Bullets whistled all around them, but they never halted. Slowly, just at a trot, they jogged on toward the enemy. The natives fired and fired, but for some unknown reason did not hit. On and on went the quartet, disdaining cover. At last there was a shout, and to our utter astonishment we beheld the seventy-five Filipinos suddenly jump out of their trenches and take to their heels in mad flight. The nerve of the Montana troopers was too much for them. When they had all fled, throwing their rifles away as they ran, the troopers came back, their arms full of guns. That is what the army called 'a Montana bluff.' It's the sort of nerve that lets a man open a jackpot on a pair of deuces."—New York Tribune.

The Women of Langum.

Woman supreme—without the ballot! And this feather which London Answers sticks in the cap of woman is no less brilliant because she is allowed to wear it only in the town of Langum.

In that little Welsh village man neither is nor pretends to be. In other villages he sometimes pretends to be, but in this sequestered nook on the Pembrokeshire coast he is simply Annie Williams' man or Mary Jones' man and recognizes himself as such,

In Langum woman is the dominating force in the market; she is the household financier, the family accountant, and in fact fills all the positions which in any other community, civilized or barbaric, are established by precedent given to man. Whether he of Langum has resigned or been divested of all responsibilities of life is no part of this story.

There is another important fact in Langum life—oysters. The place is famous for them. But Langum oysters are in no sense rivals of Langum womankind; their proverbial dumbness precludes that.

Narrow Chests

The old theory that consumption was inherited is utterly discredited by modern medical science. The germs of consumption must be received from without. These germs are every where. They are constantly being received and cast out by the healthy system. It is the narrow chested whose inheritance is weakness who fall a prey to consumption because they are too weak of lung to resist and throw off disease.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, weakness, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskilfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption.

"In the spring of 1900 I was taken with hemorrhage of the lungs, and became very weak and short of breath, lost flesh and had no appetite," writes Mr. E. L. Robinett, of Xerxes, Tenn. "I was persuaded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The first few bottles seemed to do me but little good. Thought I would soon be a victim of that dreaded disease, consumption, of which several of my family died. Had almost given up in despair when my friends persuaded me to give your 'Golden Medical Discovery' a fair trial. I commenced its use again and in a short time was feeling better. I continued its use until I had taken sixteen bottles. I weigh 160 pounds now, and when I commenced I only weighed 140 pounds. If any one doubts this statement I will be pleased to answer any inquiry."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." Nothing "just as good." Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from impurities.

TALK OF CONTEST.

A howl is being made all over the state on account of the throwing out of ballots stamped opposite the words "No nomination." There is no question that both parties lost heavily from this cause. The supreme court has held that a cross so placed is a distinguishing mark within the meaning of the law, and that ballots so marked should be rejected. In nearly every county in the state there were vacancies on the ticket, designated in this manner. In some counties the republicans were at a disadvantage in this respect, while in others the democrats were the losers. In Amador county the republicans had one unfilled space of this character on the county ticket, in the office of recorder, while both republicans and democrats had one or more in each township for township officers. Outside of Jackson, however, we have not heard that any votes were rejected because of their being stamped in either of these spaces. The matter was brought to the attention of several election boards, and they decided to count such ballots. In North Jackson, East Jackson, and West Jackson a number of ballots were rejected on this score, amounting in all to about 30. They were all republican tickets, as the democratic ticket had no unfilled place in township one. In rejecting them, the boards acted at the request of democratic attorneys, who appeared before them and urged them to take this course, on the strength of a decision of the supreme court to that effect. The republican vote on the head of the ticket would have been at least 40 more had it not been for this action. We do not believe in disfranchising a citizen on such frivolous grounds. If such technical constructions of the law are to govern, it is not surprising that the repeal of the Australian voting system is being agitated. In a number of precincts in this county the number of ballots counted for governor fell 15 per cent short of the total number of votes cast. This is a serious discrepancy, and out of all proportion to the lost votes under the old system. With all its faults, however, the present ballot law is an improvement on the old-time method. The cry for its repeal will meet with scant favor. In the end, the discussion which has resulted from the "no nomination" feature, will probably lead to a more liberal interpretation of the law in regard to distinguishing marks, or a modification of the law, so that such a simple mistake on the part of the voter shall not warrant the throwing out of the entire ballot. The talk of contesting the election of Pardee on this score is moonshine. The democrats fully believed they were going to land their man in the governor's chair, and they found a morsel of comfort in the delusion that had the rejected ballots been counted the outcome would have been different, They kicked in both directions. They were loud in demanding that ballots so marked should be thrown out in Amador and other counties; they are now equally loud in saying that such votes should have been counted in other counties where their candidates were the chief sufferers.

AUKUM.

AUKUM, Nov. 10.—Geo. Yager of Ione, was a visitor at A. Uhlinger's last Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Burns, who has been in San Francisco visiting her sister, Mrs, Mary Lewis, for the last month, returned to her home last week.

Willie Carter and Ralph Dillon, who have been working at the Dogtown sawmill all summer, returned home Saturday, as the mill has closed down for the winter.

Will McSwain has rented his mother-in-law's, Mrs. C. C. Forbes, place, and has moved his family onto the same.

The Pigeon Creek school closed on Nov. 1st for the winter. The teacher, Miss Maud Brown, treated the school to candy and nuts.

Mrs. Fassett of Ione, addressed the W. C. T. U. at Aukum Nov. 2.

The W. C. T. U. held a meeting at Mrs. Ada Perry's Saturday, to elect a new president. Mrs. Chas. Bell being elected to fill the place.

Surprise parties seem to be all the go in this vicinity. They have one every Saturday night. NOME.

"Nabisco," the new cake, try them at Caminetti's Mkt.

A Thanksgiving Dinner.

Heavy eating is usually the first cause of indigestion. Repeated attacks inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach, exposes the nerves of the stomach, producing a swelling after eating, heartburn, headache, sour risings and finally catarrh of the stomach. Kodol relieves the inflammation, protects the nerves and cures the catarrh. Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia, all stomach troubles by cleansing and sweetening the glands of the stomach. Walnuts in Amador County.

[Communicated.]

It used to be thought that the so-called English walnut counld not profitably be grown anywhere in California except on certain deep rich soils near the coast in the southern part of the state. It is still true that the most productive walnut orchards are found in that locality; but repeated trials and the introduction of new varieties have proved that softshell walnuts can be grown to advantage in other localities with quite different climatic conditions, notably in the foothill region of central California, of which Amador county forms a part. The success of Felix Gillet of Nevada county, and of other pioneer growers in the introduction of new varieties, hardier than the old Los Angeles nut, has greatly extended the area of walnut culture in the state, and demonstrated that the softshell walnut may be successfully grown wherever a moderate depth of soil and adequate moisture may be had, coupled with reasonable freedom from late spring frosts.

Such situations may readily be found in Amador county, as is shown by the results obtained at various points in this neighborhood, particularly at the Agricultural Experiment Station, where a number of the best varieties are now in bearing.

Early plantings of walnut trees in this county were made on the creek bottoms, where they have seldom borne fruit, the blossoms being usually nipped by frost. The trees at the station are on a hilltop, or, to be more exact, on a high saddle between two summits, at an elevation of nearly 2000 feet above sea level—a location much less subject to frosts than the low lands along the creeks, but no more favored in this respect than many other places in the foothills of this county. Here, there were planted in 1889, the following softshell varieties: The Common English or Madeira nut, Santa Barbara softshell, Dwarf Prolific or Praeparturiens, Mayette, Franquette, Vourey, Serotina or St. John, Chaberte, Kaphazi (Persian) and Bijou. These began to bear in 1896, though Bijou and Santa Barbara softshell bore a little the previous year. Madeira and Chaberte have never borne more than a few nuts until the present year, but the other varieties have gradually increased their crops as the trees grow older.

Bijou, a variety of French origin, has so far proven the most productive, and also bears the largest nut. The nut is peculiar in shape, oval, pointed at both ends, in size about 2¼ inches by 1½ inches. The shell is much corrugated, and is very soft, so as to be easily broken by the fingers. It does not fill perfectly, and consequently the kernel is not as large as one would suppose from the size of the shell, but it is nevertheless much larger than that of any other variety. The tree is a vigorous grower, and so far a regular and heavy bearer. Its crop this year was 115 pounds.

Next to Bijou in productiveness comes the Santa Barbara softshell and Praeparturiens (Dwarf Prolific), both good growers and regular bearers of good crops. The nuts of each are of medium size and excellent quality. Each bore about 50 pounds this year.

None of the other varieties approach these trees in growth or bearing, but it should be noted that these are on deeper soil than the others, and receive some irrigation by seepage from the garden, as also does the Persian. The other varieties have so far had no irrigation, and have borne but small crops, in no case exceeding 16 pounds to the tree. The best of them are the Franquette, Mayette and Vourey, all French varieties of much promise, bearing nuts of large size and the finest quality, the flavor being particularly delicate. Franquette, the largest of them, has a shell naturally so light colored as to need no bleaching. Mayette and Vourey also are noteworthy in this respect. Considering the size and quality of their fruit, and the important fact that these varieties put forth their leaves three weeks later than those previously mentioned, and are thus much less likely to be caught by spring frosts, they undoubtedly deserve wide trial in the foothills. On deeper soil with more moisture than they have had hitherto at the station they would probably bear better; indeed, it is not unlikely that they may improve in this respect at the station as the trees grow older.

Serotina and Chaberte also leaf out late in the season, but so far they have not berne well enough at the station to merit recommendation.

Astounding Discovery.

From Coopersville, Mich., comes word of a wonderful discovery of a pleasant tasting liquid that when used before retiring by any one troubled with a bad cough always ensures a good night's rest. "It will soon cure the cough too," writes Mrs. S. Homelburger, "for three generations of our family have used Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and never found its equal for Coughs and Colds." It's an unrivaled life-saver when used for desperate lung diseases. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00 at D. B. Spagnoli's. Trial bottles free.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

They're in the Dark

People often ask where we keep the extensive stock of perfumes that we advertise.

All high grade extracts should be kept from exposure to light, as much as possible, hence we keep ours out of sight, that is in the dark, and we always advise our patrons to do likewise.

The cheaper class of goods will keep any place.

We often display dummies furnished by our dealers for that purpose.

We invite a careful inspection of different odors whether you desire to purchase or not.

John Cox, after an experience of three years in Nome and other mining camps of the far north, returned to Jackson three weeks ago. He was principally employed working at his trade at from $8 to $10 per day. He is now working with his father on a mining claim near Wieland.

There is some talk of starting a paper in Jackson in the interest of the newly organized miners' union. The old material of the defunct Jackson Herald is a standing inducement for such air castles. Negotiations for the purchase or leasing of this material have been started, but whether the scheme will ever develop beyond the talking stage is problematical.

C. H. Crocker returned Sunday evening from a short visit to San Francisco and other places. During his absence he visited the old mining camp of Gaudalupe, in Santa Clara county, where he spent a portion of his childhood days. The old camp is being resurrected, the quicksilver mine which had been idle for many years, being again in active operation.

W. C. Ralston managed to pull through as state senator by the narrow margin of fifty votes. This is not a creditable showing in a district with fully 500 republican majority. It was Calaveras that downed him. Our sister county has a faculty of knocking its own candidates on the republican side. This disposition to scalp republicans is more pronounced there than in Amador county, and it is bad enough to be disheartening here. With a republican majority of 250, the party managed to elect one lone county officer—treasurer—and a majority of the board of supervisors.

There is some talk of contesting the election of Ralston as state senator. It is claimed that enough republican ballots having the cross stamped opposite the words "no nomination," were counted in Amador and other counties to change the result. As far as the claim itself is concerned it is probably true. But whether Ralston would be unseated on such a showing is altogether a different question. We do not believe a republican legislature would undertake to throw a republican out on any bald technicality of that character. The members of the minority party will doubtless conclude, when the bitterness of defeat has subsided, to leave the matter severely alone.

August Maron came down from El Dorado county near Wiley's station on Tuesday, on foot. He is the man who has written to the Ledger about the Lester cattle-stealing case. Some one mailed him a copy of the campaign circular issued by U S Gregory. The letter was post-marked at Pine Grove. Upon receiving the same, and reading the complimentary notice therein concerning himself, he concluded to come to Jackson, with the intention of commencing proceedings, on account of the defamatory matter contained in the circular. He called upon Justice Goldner for that purpose, and was told to see the district attorney. That official was out of town at the time, and the outcome of his visit we have not learned.

The Passing of Benny Ross.

Benjamin Ross jr. departed this life at the Clara Barton hospital, San Francisco, on the 28th day of October, after an illness of nearly two years. All was done for him that could be done by the best medical skill at his home in Volcano, and also in Angels Camp. At one time the disease from which he suffered seemed to have yielded to the treatment he received, and his relatives and friends had hopes of his ultimate recovery, but it proved to be only temporary relief. It was then thought advisable to remove him to San Francisco, in order that he might have the skillful nursing that his case demanded. It was soon known that the disease from which he suffered (malignant cancer) must prove fatal. He lived only about a week after reaching the hospital. He kept on his feet till the last, having walked four blocks only a few hours before he died. His sister, Miss Grace Ross, was with him in his last moments. The news of his death cast a feeling of sadness over his many friends in Volcano, and brought the deepest sorrow to his widowed mother, whose grief over the death of her husband, the late lamented Benjamin Ross sr., the hand of time had hardly softened. After the death of his father, young Benny, although not strong, bravely and cheerfully assumed the duties of bread winner, and for months persevered in the most laborious work, cheerfully and without complaint. On the very day he died he had a smile and a pleasant word for everyone. Everybody liked Benny Ross, and deeply regret his untimely death. Benjamin Ross jr. was born in Volcano, Amador county, Cal., on the 24th of Sept., 1881.

He left us in Autumn, when flowers were fading,
T'was the springtime of life when he bade us adieu,
And left us to mourn o'er the grave where they laid him,
For the loved one whose heart was so tender and true.

That dear form will be missed from the family circle,
That dear face we will see on earth never more,
Though we must go on in sorrow and trouble,
Let this thought console us, his sorrows are o'er.

For Deputies.

It is generally understood that Fred Jackson of Sutter Creek, a detective of unquestioned ability, and state-wide reputation in the ferreting out of crime, has been selected as chief deputy by sheriff-elect T. K. Norman. Mr. Jackson has been a deputy in the sheriff's office of San Joaquin county, while the official himself was around making his canvass for votes. The election over, Jackson returned to his home in Amador county. A report has been circulated that Jackson had accepted a deputyship in San Joaquin, and consequently could not be deputy in Amador county. The explanation is, that his engagement in San Joaquin was merely temporary, and terminated with the election, so that he was then free to accept a position at the hands of Amador's newly elected sheriff. For a second deputy Mr. Norman has selected H. E. Kay, present constable of Jackson. These appointments will give general satisfaction. Both men are capable and energetic, and their selection is an augury that the incoming administration of the sheriff's office will be thorough-paced in every respect.

Rainfall.

One of the heaviest rainstorms we have had for years was experienced in Jackson during Sunday night. Saturday and Sunday slight showers occurred, but Sunday night the rain descended in torrents. For over an hour the water fell in one continuous stream. The storm seems to have been general throughout the county. In the eastern section, it is reported, the precipitation was even greater than in Jackson. It was a warm rain; little snow fell except far up in the mountains. The rainfall according to the Ledger gauge, is as follows:

Nov. 8	0.09
Nov. 9	0.12
Nov. 10	1.75
Nov. 13	0.38
Total for week	2.34
Total for season	4.45

Wedded in San Andreas.

The Calaveras Prospect chronicles the wedding of Gustave Guerard, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Guerard of Jackson, to Miss Agnes Fillipini, which took place at the home of the bride's mother in San Andreas on Sunday, November 2. Mrs. Norma Cassinelli played the wedding march, as the couple attended by Miss Amelia Zwinge as bridesmaid and Yancy De Witt as best man, took their places before the Rev. Father, and the solemn ceremony was said. Music, both instrumental and vocal followed, after which a bountiful supper was served.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. V. Fillipini of San Andreas, and is a very popular young lady, and a prominent Native Daughter, she has a wide circle of friends in this vicinity. The groom has been living for some time at Quartz Mt., Tuolumne county, where the couple will make their home.

Wednesday ev'ng the Native Daughters of the local parlor called upon the newly wedded pair, and tendered their congratulations. They were most hospitably received, and cake and wine were served. Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. Guerard left for San Francisco on their wedding tour. The bridal pair were the recipients of a number of useful and handsome presents from their many friends.

Auction Sale.

Having decided to close out my business in Jackson, I will offer for sale at public auction, without reserve, the whole of my stock of dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, hats, etc. Sale commences Saturday evening, Nov. 15, at 7 o'clock, and continues every day, both afternoon and night, until the entire stock is disposed of. Now is the time to get good goods at low figures. Remember the goods must be sold, regardless of sacrifice.

JOS. SAMUELS.

Examination of Owen Fallon.

The preliminary examination of Owen Fallon, charged with the murder of Ray Meehan, on the morning of August 17, was held before Judge Goldner on Monday last. The district attorney represented the people, and W. J. McGee the defendant. The testimony for the prosecution was confined to the circumstances of the shooting. It was intended merely to introduce sufficient testimony to warrant the court in holding the accused for trial. The defense introduced some testimony, probably intended as the basis of an application for bail. The court held Fallon to answer without bail.

Mrs D. Maher met with a severe accident last Tuesday. She fell down a stairway of eight or nine steps in the rear of her residence, receiving a cut on the head and fracturing one rid on the left side. Dr B. H. Schact is attending the case, and the patient is getting along nicely toward recovery.

Agricultural Year Book.

We have received from congressman S. D. Woods, for free distribution, a number of copies of the report of the agricultural department for the year 1900. The book contains information of much value to those engaged in agricultural pursuits. We shall be pleased to present any farmer with a copy who will take the trouble to call at our office for the same. While each book is franked and would no doubt pass through the mail free, we cannot undertake to send them by mail, but must insist that subscribers wishing a copy call and get the same at the office. Make applications early, as our supply is limited, and will be speedily exhausted as soon as the character of the book is understood.

The Traction Engine.

The Gwin Mining Co. has commenced hauling lumber from Valley Spring to the mine with its big traction engine. The engine started up this week on Wednesday, and has caused some consternation among the horses along the road. The Gwin people though take every precaution to avoid accidents. They send a man on horseback ahead to warn teamsters, and come to a full stop on meeting any horses that show a disposition to be frightened.—Calaveras Prospect.

Stops the Cough and works off the Cold

Laxative Bromo-Quinine Tablets cure a cold in one day. No Cure, no Pay. Price 25 cents.

Smallpox Notes.

A family named Clark, living at Lamb's bridge, on the Latrobe road, has been quarantined on account of smallpox. Dr. Gall went there two weeks ago to look into the nature of the eruption that had appeared in the family, and discovered that it was smallpox. There were several in the family suffering from it. A strict quarantine was established, and the disease has disappeared.

Another case has broken out in the family of James A. Laughton, the victim being a boy of tender years.

Also L. Spinetti of Jackson Gate, was found to be afflicted with this malady. The discovery was made a week ago. The patient is about well by this time.

Bad Indeed.

Losing flesh is indeed a bad sign. Take Scott's Emulsion for it. For weak digestion, for defective nourishment, for consumption, take Scott's Emulsion. It restores flesh because it strikes at the cause of the loss.

Rebekah District Meeting.

A gathering of representatives of the various Rebekah degree lodges in District No. 13, I. O. O. F., was held in Odd Fellows hall, Jackson, on Wednesday afternoon, November 12. All the lodges in the district were well represented; also Calaveras Rebekah lodge No. 88 of Mokelumne Hill sent a small delegation. The hall was tastefully decorated with pink and green tissue paper and crysanthemums for the occasion. The meeting was called to order by P. N. G. Minnie H. Goodman of Volcano. Past President Nellie Mitchell of Grass Valley was instructor. The meeting was called for the purpose of instruction in the Rebekah degree, and for the discussion of law points. At 6 o'clock a supper was served at the National hotel for the visitors.

In the evening the initiatory staff of Jackson lodge exemplified the initiatory work in fine style, and deserve much credit for the way the work was performed. The installation work was exemplified by Excelsior Rebekah lodge of Sutter Creek, and this was done in excellent manner. Emma Gregory acted as grand marshal, and Annie Dohman of Plymouth acted as D. D. Pres. The next district meeting will be held at Oleta in the early part of June, 1903. At the close of the business meeting a banquet was served, and enjoyed by all present.

Report on the Del Monte Mines.

The superintendent reports developments in September and October as follows:

For September: Cross-cut tunnel run 50 feet, at a cost of $608.95, or $12.18 per foot. The upraise was run a distance of 14 feet, making a total length of 51 feet, at an expense of $56.60. Labor and materials on construction work, $162.75.

For October. Total distance on cross-cut tunnel in October, 52 feet, running 20 days with one shift, 11 days with two, bringing the entire length of tunnel Nov. 1st, 420 feet. Expense of running same, $556.55, or $10.70 per foot. Total length of upraise run in October, 18 feet, making a total length of 79 feet on Nov. 1st, at an expense of $112.05, or $5.15 per foot. Developments on Del Monte claim in October show a length of tunnel run of 125 feet, at an expense of $176.75, or $1.40 per foot. The average width of the ledge is 18 inches, and it is approaching the intersection with the Del Monte ledge. Construction work in October, $75.

The work on the upraise in the west chute of the old tunnel shows flattering results. The ledge at a height of 50 feet came in with a two foot ore body, which has widened to five feet at 79 feet; this ore body is solid quartz, with several inches of black gouge. The average value of quartz and gouge is about $68, by assay tests, the gouge running $120 to the ton. The ore body opened up is quite extensive, and will keep the mill running for several months. All is in readiness for milling, and the stamps will be dropping, under the supervision of our competent millman, B. C. O'Neil jr., on Nov. 10. The Monte Del lead is approaching its intersection with the Del Monte, where exceptional values should be found. The cross-cut tunnel is being steadily advanced, and the large quantity of water recently encountered indicates a near approach to the second ledge.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors, a proposition was received from B. C. and C. O'Neil, trustees, offering to surrender their 25,000 shares of trustee stock, held as security for part of the purchase price of the mine, and place the same in the treasury for sale in order to enable them to prosecute the work with greater vigor. This proposition, which was accepted by the board, places the control of operations at the mine in the hands of the stockholders at large, and will furnish them with the means for rapidly pushing the work on all lines of development. Secretary Geo. I. Wright is now in the east on business connected with this and adjoining properties, and will, while there, place upon the market this surrendered trustee stock.

Cured of Piles After 40 Years.

Mr. C. Haney, of Geneva, Ohio, had the piles for forty years. Doctors and dollars could do him no lasting good. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured him permanently. Invaluable for cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, lacerations, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, and all other skin diseases. Look for the name DeWitt on the package—all others are cheap, worthless counterfeits. Kerr's Pharmacy, Jackson.

The board of supervisors met last Monday, and canvassed the election returns, which took them until Tuesday afternoon. There were but few changes from the vote as published last week. We publish to-day the complete official returns, which may be relied upon as correct in every respect.

Sudden Death.

Thomas D. Valentine, employed at the Wildman mine in Sutter Creek, died in that town on Tuesday last, after a short illness. He was seized suddenly the previous day with a complaint which was thought to be appendicitis. The medical attendants realized that the attack was of the gravest character, and necessitated a surgical operation to afford any hope of relief. The operation was performed, but too late to effect a cure. The complaint was a strangulation of the bowels. The patient died about 24 hours after the first serious symptoms appeared. Deceased was 32 years of age, and highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a young wife to deplore his untimely end. The body was forwarded to San Francisco on Wednesday for interment.

McKenney's Majorities.

C. H. McKenney, the republican candidate for assemblyman, is elected by a flattering majority. Complete returns show that he carried every county in the district, by pluralities as follows: Amador 77, Calaveras 255, Mono 150, Alpine 36; total 518. This is about the strict party majority in the four counties comprising this assembly district.

Spreads Like Wildfire.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tone up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, run-down man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by D. B. Spagnoli, druggist.

Valuable Prediction.

"Doctor, do you remember three months ago that you predicted positively that I would be a dead man in six weeks?"

"Why, yes, I"—

"Well, I've got a friend in the next room who is despondent about himself. Just tell him there is no hope for him, will you?"—New York Herald.

Astronomy Before Christ.

About 500 B. C. Anaxagoras of Ionia was born. When he "grew up in wisdom," he was the first to teach the course and cause of both solar and lunar eclipses and to give his followers rules whereby they could distinguish planets from fixed stars. He was punished for declaring that the sun was not a god.

A Bee Line.

The directness of the bee's flight is proverbial. The shortest distance between any two given points is called a bee line. Many observers think that the immense eyes with which the insect is furnished greatly assist, if they do not entirely account for, the arrowy straightness of its passage through the air.

When Jackson Dined!

While the dinner hour still clings to the noontime among country people it has advanced in the cities until now it occurs at any time between noon and midnight. And that reminds us, says the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser, of one of the many stories about Colonel Davy Crockett. While he was a member of congress and was at his home in Tennessee some one asked him about the dinner hour in Washington. He said the common people ate dinner at 12, the next above them at 1, the merchants at 2, the representatives at 3, the senators at 4, members of the cabinet at 5 and the vice president at 6. "But when does the president dine?" "What! Old Hickory?" said Crockett, anxious to fix a time that would suit his idea of Jackson's greatness. "Well, he don't eat till next day!"

Women In Paris Streets.

It is quite a feature of Paris to see streams of open carriages, private and hired, taking folks for an after dinner drive along the grand boulevards, which are thronged with promenaders and groups of people sitting outside cafes talking. Now and again a carriage will stop to deposit its burden in front of a cafe and return later, either to this or another to which its occupants have migrated.

With her husband a Frenchwoman may go anywhere, and it is quite customary for the very nicest Frenchwomen to take coffee in the open air outside a cafe and make this a pleasant meeting place for friends.—Exchange.

He Wouldn't Split.

The tramp in the green goggles stood before the door.

"Yes," said the housewife kindly; "you can have a good meal if you split that wood."

"Madam," said the tramp in a precise grammatical manner, "I was born and raised in Boston— But stop, shall I tell you the sad, sad story of my life?"

"Yes, yes."

"When a youth in Boston, I was disinherited for splitting an infinitive, and since then (his voice broke) I have vowed never to split anything, not even the wood!"

"Sick 'im, Tige!"—Baltimore Herald.

No Consolation For Cracked China.

How many housekeepers there are that can sympathize with the old Virginia lady who said to her friend on finding a treasured old cup cracked by a careless maid, "I know of nothing to compare with the affliction of losing a handsome piece of old china." Newport's Architecture.

The cottages of Newport afford a strange commentary upon the contrasting tastes of the American nation. Their heterogeneity were impossible in a race of settled culture, in a race of common blood, in a country of limited extent. But the United States is a nation of nations. Its people are not Americans, but Englishmen and Scotsmen, Frenchmen and Germans, Italians and Spaniards of the third or fourth or tenth generation, says the Smart Set. Their taste in architecture is a taste that was born on the sunny Mediterranean shore, in cozy Normandy orchards, in classic Spain and Italy, in baronial Scotland and England. It is revealed in the chateaux, the castles, the villas, the loggias of Newport. Seville and Welbeck, Florence and Falaise, here stand side by side on the same strip of grass, separated only by a grille from Venice or Antwerp.

Noah Left the Ark on April 29.

Saturday, April 29, is the day marked in all ancient calendars as being the one upon which Noah and his family quitted the ark after having withstood the siege of the great deluge. The day is marked in all ancient calendars, especially British, as egressus Noæ de arca, the 17th of March, the day upon which Noah, his family and their great floating collection of natural history specimens set sail, being designated in the same class of early printed literature as introitus Noæ in arca, "the day of Noah's entrance into the ark." Why these days were chosen as the ones upon which the supposed embarkation and debarkation were made are enigmas which the antiquarians have not yet solved.

Instincts That Lead to Death.

Professor Mivart proved that there are "instincts" that lead to death by failing to adapt themselves to a change of circumstances. Migratory quail by thousands perish in the deserts of northern Africa, where their ancestors used to find a comfortable winter resort, abounding with forests and even with grainfields, if we shall credit Pliny's account of the Numidian coast lands. The forests are gone, but myriads of quail still follow in the same route at the risk of starvation.

A Long Green One.

"Bribem's interested in that bill you voted for," said the first councilman.

"Sure," replied the other. "Don't you suppose I know that?"

"Did he ask you personally to vote for it?"

"Well—er—he just handed me a note."—Kennebec Journal.

Repudiates It.

"Where did that child get her manners?"

"Not from my side of the house."

"Why not?"

"Because she hasn't any."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Maidens Sold by Auction.

A singular custom obtains to this day in some of the towns on the lower Rhine—namely, that of "selling" maidens at public auction. For nearly four centuries on Easter Monday—auction day—the town crier or clerk of St. Goar has called all the young people together and to the highest bidder sold the privilege of dancing with the chosen girl, and her only, during the entire year. The fees are put into the public poor box.

A Serious Matter.

"So he's trying to live on other people's brains," said the publisher indignantly.

"What's the trouble? Has some one been stealing the ideas from your books?"

"I suppose so. But that's a minor matter. They're trying to coax away the man who writes my advertisements."—Washington Star.

His Conscience.

First Bohemian (to second ditto)—I can't for the life of me think why you wasted all that time haggling with that tailor chap and beating him down when you know, old chap, you won't be able to pay him at all.

Second Bohemian—Ah, that's it! I have a conscience, I want the poor chap to lose as little as possible!—Punch.

A MAN'S BLUSHES.

He Will Fly the Red Signal More Quickly Than a Woman.

"If there is any one thing that makes me want to get up and talk right out in meeting it is to hear it said of a man that 'he blushes like a woman,'" said the social philosopher to a representative of the New York Times.

"How women ever gained the reputation of having run up a corner in blushes is beyond my comprehension. The report does her a grave injustice, for as a matter of fact she not only has no monopoly in blushes, but does not make use of the share that properly belongs to her. There are some women, of course, who blush if you even blink an eyelid in their direction, but as a general thing men blush much more readily and more violently than women.

"This is not a random statement that I am making for the purpose of hearing myself talk, but a sober deduction founded on careful observation. For years I have made it a point to study the sexes in moments of embarrassment, and the statistics I have jotted down prove that in nine cases out of ten the average man will fly the red signal of distress much more quickly than the average woman. This holds good in all sorts of situations.

"Crack a joke at a man's expense, he blushes; ply him with awkward questions, he blushes; subject him to some humiliation or let some ludicrous accident befall him in public, and he straightway rivals the boiled lobster in hue. A woman may redden slightly under the same circumstances, but her blush is diluted and perfunctory compared with the brilliant, sunlit glow that suffuses the countenance of man.

"I don't attempt to explain the phenomenon—physiologists and moralists may do that if they can—but merely give the facts for what they are worth in the hope that the next time a story writer has a crop of blushes to dispose of he will ring a few changes on the old phrase that has done duty for generations and say of the heroine that she 'blushed like a man.'"

FIRE ALARM BOXES.

The System In New York and How It Is Operated.

Greater New York is thickly studded with lamppost fire alarm boxes. The directions on each box, which is painted red and is surmounted at night by a red light, are:

"Turn handle to right until door opens; then pull inside hook once and shut the door." The opening of the box rings a large bell in the door, which alarm is intended to notify any one in the neighborhood, especially the nearest policeman, that the box has been opened. The policeman will then make sure that this was not done out of mischief by some one who wanted to see the engines arrive or, as recently happened, by a raw maidservant who wanted to mail a letter. When the inside lever is pulled down and let go, it sets in motion a certain clockwork that ticks out the number of the box three times in succession at headquarters in Sixty-seventh street. Not only that, but it makes a record upon a tape, showing the number of the box and the exact second at which the lever was pulled.

A clerk who sits night and day beside the headquarters instrument notes the number and selects from a drawer a certain disk which when inserted in the proper apparatus causes the alarm to be rung in the station houses of the district in which that firebox is situated. The average time required to select this disk and send out the alarm is ten seconds. There are always two clerks and sometimes three in this department. Not a word is spoken. An outsider would hardly know that an alarm is going out. In order to prevent several alarms coming at the same time from people who see the same fire and run to different boxes no two neighboring boxes are on the same circuit.—Scribner's.

Who Told the Fib?

The bell rang, and the occupier of the apartment started to the window to see who the visitor might be. To his annoyance he saw a persistent creditor who had evidently called again for payment of his long outstanding account. The impecunious one instantly called to his youthful son and said:

"Tommy, go to the door at once. I don't want to see that man. Tell him I'm not at home."

"Oh, papa, I thought you never told fibs," remarked Tommy.

"I don't, my boy. It's you that's going to tell one. Now run off."—New York Times.

Fixing the Blame.

Mr. Snow was seen holding the weekly paper as far away as he could get it and working his head from side to side, with squinted eyes. "Soho! Your sight's begun to fail ye at last," said the visitor bluntly. "Well, 'tain't surprising at your age."

Mr. Snow glared. "My eyesight's all right!" he roared. "The only trouble is my pesky arm isn't long enough!"—Youth's Companion.

Fame.

"When I grow up," remarked Bobby Toughmuscles, "I am going to be the people's choice."

"Pugilist or president?" asked Tommy Sharpboy.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Every one should occasionally say "Whoa!" to himself. Because his friends do not say it does not indicate that he doesn't need it.—Atchison Globe.

FORCING A FASHION.

How Hats Were Introduced to the South African Savages.

Andries De Villiers, a Boer, was the person who first introduced hats among the South African natives, says the Hatters' Gazette, and profit, not philanthropy, was his motive. One morning many years ago he chanced in Port Elizabeth to come across a consignment of damaged hats offered for a mere song. He bought the whole lot, packed them away in his wagon and started for Kaffirland.

When he reached Tembuland, he unloaded his stock, opened his kegs of liquor, without which no trade was made in those days, and began business. But he found his venture likely to prove an unprofitable one. The natives did not want hats. They wanted blankets and beads and looking glasses and above all liquor, but they looked askance at hats. Then a bright idea came to Andries. He wanted to introduce those hats. He did introduce them. His simple expedient was to refuse to sell anything to a Kaffir unless he bought a hat too. The Kaffirs wanted his goods, so they bought the hats.

When a Kaffir buys anything, he feels bound to make use of it. The natives therefore donned their head gear and returned to their kraals. Now appeared the brilliancy of the trader's idea. Fashion rules the world. It is as strong in Africa as in America, and when those who had stayed at home saw the travelers return in all the glory of this strange covering they felt behindhand and old fashioned. Their desire to possess the latest thing in hats became intense. They paid Andries a visit, and his stock no longer hung heavy upon his hands. The hats were soon sold.

This happened some time ago, and now every trading store keeps a supply of hats constantly on hand. They are said to be manufactured expressly for the natives, and no one who glances at the show will doubt it.

A JUGGLER'S TRICK.

Clever Feat of Illusion Performed by an East Indian.

The wonderful feats of East Indian jugglers have formed the theme of many a letter from travelers in the orient, but none is more surprising than that for which an old seadog vouches. While he was an officer on board a P. and O. steamship two natives came aboard at Madras, he says. They were a juggler and his assistant. After they had performed a number of minor feats and gathered quite a crowd around them they called for a sack and a piece of sailcloth.

These having been provided, the chief juggler made a small tentlike structure with the canvas and some stools. He then placed his assistant in the sack and allowed a sailor to tie the knot which bound him a fast prisoner. This done, the chief carried the sack into an open space, warning the people to stand back some distance, and then carried on an animated conversation with his assistant, whose replies could be distinctly heard coming from the sack. Suddenly the chief rushed forward, picked up the sack and dumped it overboard, where, to the horror of the passengers and crew, it sank out of sight.

Immediately the captain rushed forward and seized the man, under the full belief that he had murdered his companion, but the juggler only smiled and, pointing to the canvas, asked that it be raised. This was done, and the supposed drowned man was discovered squatting on the deck. So realistic had been the throwing overboard, however, that it was some time before the surprised passengers could realize a murder had not been committed.

Church and Workmen.

It would be an exaggeration to say that all working people feel antagonistic toward the church. Their general attitude is rather that of indifference. The thinking poor are well enough aware that there is nothing unnatural in the situation and that if the tables were so turned that world advantage shifted to their side it would probably remain unchanged. At times their feeling, especially toward the clergy, is curiously sympathetic. "Say," remarked a labor leader of vivid mind to the writer—"say, I'm awfully sorry for ministers. Most of them are real good men. They know well enough what Christ meant, and they'd like first rate to preach if they dared. But, Lord, how can they? They've got to draw their salaries; they've got families to support." All this quite without a touch of irony.—Vida D. Scudder in Atlantic.

Pulling Out the Pegs.

Susie, aged four, had been out in the country on a visit. On her return she urged her mother to let her keep a cow.

"But, Susie," said the mother, "there is no one here to take care of the cow and milk it."

"Oh, yes. I'll do that, mamma."

"Can you milk a cow? How do you do it?"

"Oh, I know how. I'll just pull the pegs out like the man does."—Lippincott's.

THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT THE ORIGINAL LIVER MEDICINE

A sallow complexion, dizziness, biliousness and a coated tongue are common indications of liver and kidney diseases. Stomach and bowel troubles, severe as they are, give immediate warning by pain, but liver and kidney troubles, though less painful at the start, are much harder to cure. Thedford's Black-Draught never fails to benefit diseased liver and weakened kidneys. It stirs up the torpid liver to throw off the germs of fever and ague. It is a certain preventive of cholera and Bright's disease of the kidneys. With kidneys reinforced by Thedford's Black-Draught thousands of persons have dwelt immune in the midst of yellow fever. Many families live in perfect health and have no other doctor than Thedford's Black-Draught. It is always on hand for use in an emergency and saves many expensive calls of a doctor.

Mullins, S. C., March 10, 1901.
I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for three years and I have not had to go to a doctor since I have been taking it. It is the best medicine for me that is on the market for liver and kidney troubles and dyspepsia and other complaints. Rev. A. G. LEWIS.

A TRUE HERO.

Did you ever know a hero real well? I know at least one and quite intimately. Who? I am afraid you would hardly recognize his name, and besides it would not be just right to give it here. He is only an old bachelor who works in a shop. He has been at one bench for something like—well, from this you may judge: When he began, he was fresh from school. He lives in a little frame house, with an absurd little back yard hardly more than big enough for the syringa bush and the ash barrel.

"The first morning I started for the shop," he once told me, "I cut across the back yard and climbed the fence. I have been doing it ever since, and it has been a long time." In the tiny lawn is worn a deep footpath. The top rail of the back fence is smoothly polished. His feet wore the path. His hands polished the rail. And all these years he has worked at the same bench, doing the same work.

Not that he lacks intelligence or that he never had an ambition. Intelligence he most certainly has, no mean lore of books and a wide, generous grasp of affairs and the drift of things. Ambition he had, too, but that was before his feet had worn a path across the back yard. I am quite sure that he once loved. In fact, I suspect that I know the one he loved, and that she loved him. But he never married. She did, though she has been widowed for a dozen years.

But why, you ask, with intelligence and ambition, did he stick to his bench? In an upper room of his little cottage is a window blind which is never opened. Behind that blind, peering out through the shutters with unrecognizing gaze, sits one who bears the outward form of manhood, yet lacks manhood's mental qualities. The one behind the blind is his brother. Downstairs, puttering feebly about and speaking only in high, thin, querulous tones, is a wan and bent old woman—his mother. For the sake of these two he has worn the path in the lawn; for them he put away ambition; for them he stifled the love that once stirred within him.

He is past middle age now, thin as to hair, stooped as to shoulders. Yet is there a tenderness in his voice, a cheerful sweetness in his smile, a patient resignation in his pale blue eyes, that make his manner of such mild gentleness as you might expect in a saint. From him comes never a word of complaint; about him is no trace of disappointment, no hint of bitterness.

And so, though few know his name, though he wears no glittering gauds, though he goes his way unhampered by pomp or circumstance and all unrecognized by church or state, I cannot help but count him one of earth's true heroes. Don't you?—Sewell Ford in Brandur Magazine.

Moses and His Horns.

Did Moses have horns? Certainly not, but if you have ever had the pleasure of examining a copy of Michael Angelo's great picture of "The Lawgiver" you have wondered why the great painter surmounted the patriarchal face, gray beard and becoming priestly gown with a pair of horns much resembling those of a two-year-old animal of the bovine tribe. The reason is this: Jerome's Bible, the Latin Vulgate, tells that when Moses came down from the mountain top his face was "radiant" (rayed) with the great light shining from his pure soul. In the Greek Septuagint the translation said it was "cornua," meaning "radiant." Jerome used this later version in making his Latin Vulgate and translated "cornua" as "cornuta," the last meaning horned. Angelo made his picture accordingly.

Soil Is a Living Organism.

Formerly the soil was regarded as mineral matter, simply decayed rock mixed with dead organic matter, says an exchange. Now we know that the soil is a living organism whose life is as important as that of the animal or the plant itself. If the soil be killed, it is absolutely sterile. In other words, if the life of organisms which make soil fertile are destroyed the soil is incapable of producing a crop. Plants, as a rule, eat only mineral food, such as phosphoric acid, potash and nitric acid, but animals usually eat only organic foods, such as fats, sugars and protein matter.

His Case Not So Bad After All.

"Ah, it's a sad old world," sighed the man who had been cheated out of $20.

"Yes," assented his neighbor. "One of my horses got his head fast in the hayrack last night and broke his neck. I was offered $200 for him less than a month ago."

"Pshaw! That's too bad. Looks as though it was going to brighten up, doesn't it?" And he went on his way whistling cheerfully.—Chicago Record-Herald.
